

Universit

Drive your digital business transformation with Universit

Digital transformation is rapidly changing our world. A change that is driven by end users who demand solutions that enrich their life, their work and everything in between.

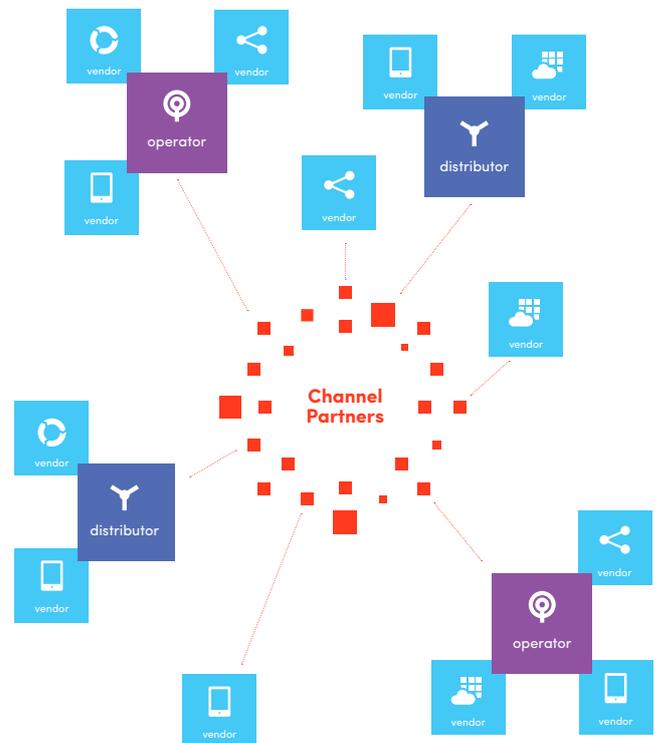

A new way to provide integrated solutions

Operators and distributors understand that another internal platform for the provisioning of cloud services or expanding their portfolio to cover everything in a world of things is not the answer.

They need a space that ignores traditional industry boundaries, unifies IT and Telecom and connects the world of things.

A space where they can work together with their channel partners (resellers, e-tailers, retailers and service providers) to create the integrated solutions that end-users want; solutions that include hardware, connectivity, software and services.

That space is called Universit.

Analyze, Create, Distribute and Manage

Manage your solutions through a single pane of glass.

Universit supports operators, distributors and their channel partners from marketing, sales and procurement to delivery, provisioning and lifecycle management of integrated solutions. Even more, it's a brand new way to analyze, create, distribute and manage the solutions channel partners, customers and their end-users need.

Analyze

Get a grip on the usage of devices, connectivity, software and services in order to make smarter decisions when bringing new solutions to market.

Create

Combine hardware, connectivity, software and services from many distributors, operators and vendors, and bundle them together into integrated solutions.

Distribute

Take the hassle out of sales, procurement, delivery and provisioning of integrated solutions through state-of-the-art integration technology.

Manage

Manage the complete lifecycle of every end-user, customer, subscription and device, all automated and managed from one single space.

Take control of your digital transformation

Industry leaders worldwide have joined Universit and all recognize the benefits our space provides:

Accelerate time to market
